SOC 414 - GLOBALIZATION, SOCIETY, & CULTURE
Social, economic, political, and cultural systems that span nation-state borders. Current status of nationalism, nation-states, and the global economy; how cultural identities and communities are formed within the context of global systems. Topics may include effects of world markets on economies and societies, transnational migration and social movements, indigenous groups’ self-representation through global technologies such as video and the Internet, hybrid identities and “bifocal” cultural frameworks. See Anth/Pos 414. (3)
Credits: 3
Course Notes: or six hrs. in social science.

SOC 417 - RACE & THE CITY
Course examines how urban space takes on racialized meanings, how race serves as an organizing principle within cities, and the relationship between race, place, and power. Topics include: politics of Chicago neighborhoods, race in a post-civil rights era, functions of housing markets and other institutions in protecting privilege and power. Finally, using race as an analytical tool, we explore how the city is experienced and imagined differently when using race as our lens.

SOC 418 - SOCIAL CHANGE
Since the 1970s a new form of ‘neoliberal’ capitalism has emerged. Neoliberalism rode in on attacks against ‘big government’ and ‘special interests’, accompanied by promises of economic growth and greater efficiency. In practice, neoliberalism has failed to deliver on these promises. Everywhere it has been implemented, neoliberalism has produced mounting inequality and increasing insecurity for the vast majority. Rather than reducing the size of government, neoliberalism has shifted the weight of government from social programs benefitting poor and working people to massive subsidies for the wealthy, the military-industrial complex, and the prison-industrial complex. This course examines the rise of neoliberalism, its contradictions, and its current crisis. In response to the constant refrain that ‘there is no alternative’, the course also explores alternatives to neoliberalism in the form of economic democracy and worker self-managed enterprises.

SOC 419 - LATINO URBAN EXPERIENCE
This course focuses on the contemporary urban experience of Latinos, particularly the contributions they make to U.S. society and the challenges they face. Topics include the impact of globalization on immigration and labor markets, gentrification of Latino neighborhoods, the rise of the Latino middle class, and immigration policy, etc.
