

LEGAL STUDIES, BA/BS JD

Roosevelt University and The John Marshall Law School (<http://www.jmls.edu>) cooperate in offering combined credit programs leading to the degrees of Juris Doctor and the baccalaureate degree (BA or BS), also known as the 3+3 program. Under this program, successful completion of the first 30 credit hours at John Marshall Law School may be credited toward the completion of the baccalaureate degree at Roosevelt. Students who wish to pursue the combined degree with John Marshall must successfully complete Roosevelt's Legal Studies minor (<http://catalog.roosevelt.edu/undergraduate/arts-sciences/legal-studies-minor>). Students interested in pursuing this opportunity should meet with their advisor or with the coordinator of Legal Studies, Professor David Faris (<http://blogs.roosevelt.edu/dfaris>) (dfaris@roosevelt.edu).

Please note: Legal Studies is not a Roosevelt University major; a major must be chosen from among those offered by the College of Arts and Sciences, and its requirements completed as part of the 91 or more credit hours required to begin at John Marshall.

Admission

Students must be admitted separately to each institution. They may begin their courses at John Marshall after completing 91 or more credit hours at Roosevelt, after successful completion of the required courses, and after successful application to the law school program, reflecting the qualifications needed for admission as established by The John Marshall Law School Admission Office.

Standards

At least 60 credit hours must be taken at Roosevelt University, with no more than 30 credit hours transferred from another undergraduate institution. The final 30 hours must be taken at Roosevelt.

All university core requirements (including distribution and other general education requirements) as well as the requirements of the Legal Studies minor (<http://catalog.roosevelt.edu/undergraduate/arts-sciences/legal-studies-minor>) must be completed as part of the 90 or more credit hours.

Requirements

As part of the 90 or more required credit hours, students must complete:

- Arts and Science major of student's choosing
- General Education requirements for Arts and Sciences
- Legal Studies minor. Courses for this include:

General Education, University Writing Requirement, and Electives

Courses to total 90	90
---------------------	----

Upon completion of 91 or more credit hours, students must have achieved a minimum GPA and LSAT score as determined by John Marshall and made available from the Office of Admission.

Once students have completed the above requirements and are admitted to John Marshall, the first 29 credit hours successfully completed there will be cross-credited by Roosevelt and applied toward the completion of the bachelor's degree.

If a student is dropped for academic reasons from John Marshall after the first or second semester of law school, Roosevelt will determine which credits will be counted towards the bachelor's degree.

Roosevelt will determine whether to award credit to a student receiving a grade of "D" or lower at John Marshall.

Admission to The John Marshall Law School is not guaranteed for students in this program, but it does allow participating Roosevelt students to apply for the JD program a year sooner than other students and thus makes it possible for them to eliminate a year from the time it ordinarily takes to complete both degrees.
