

MUSIC PERFORMANCE - PIANO, MM

The goals of the piano program are to prepare the student for a multifaceted performance career (soloist, collaborative pianist, and chamber musician) and to provide the student with the skills and pedagogical background to become a productive teacher.

The graduate program's objectives are to:

- Develop and refine technical and musical abilities through the study and performance of challenging works from the traditional and modern repertoires.
- Provide ongoing solo and ensemble performing experiences; expand the student's knowledge of the family of keyboard instruments and relevant performance practices.
- Introduce principles and methods for teaching adult students, including instructional techniques for group piano classes, from beginning through advanced levels.
- Provide opportunities to investigate musical topics and repertoires in academic courses.

No prescribed technical or repertory requirements are in place for graduate students. The four semesters of applied study are directed toward building strengths, addressing areas of weakness or deficiency, and preparing a recital program of major works from the piano repertory that is at least 60 minutes in length and encompasses at least four stylistic periods (including at least one 20th or 21st-century work). All jury and recital repertoire requirements are listed on the Requirements tab within the academic catalogue.

Residency Requirement

A student must earn at least 21 credit hours at Roosevelt University.

Minimum Grade Requirements

Applied Lessons

B- is the minimum passing grade for PIA 411 PIANO (MAJOR) through PIA 414 PIANO (MAJOR).

Recitals

B- is the minimum passing grade for PERF 428 GRADUATE RECITAL.

Juries

B- is the minimum passing grade for PERF 451 MASTER OF MUSIC JURY.

A student must earn at a GPA of at least 3.0 in all major area coursework.

PERF 428 GRADUATE RECITAL

60 minutes of music is required, spanning works from at least four stylistic periods, including Contemporary, and must include three pieces that are considered major works in the pianist's repertory (at the discretion of the Director of Piano and the applied instructor). The student may petition to include only three stylistic periods if, in the aggregate, the time requirement is met. Both the Director of Piano and the applied instructor must approve the program. The recital will be graded by the applied instructor.

Jury Repertoire

All works programmed on the M.M. recital must have been performed in juries during the prior semesters. Repertoire must span at least one work from each of the six stylistic categories listed above, with specific works assigned at the discretion of the teacher.

Jury I (see below) will serve as proof of the student's ability to succeed in graduate studies at the CCPA. PIA 411 PIANO (MAJOR) is therefore considered a probationary semester. On the basis of the Jury I, the student shall be granted permission to continue in the program. If the student's progress is deemed insufficient for continuation by the faculty, the course must be repeated on a probationary basis, not to exceed one semester. If the student does not attain the minimum jury grade after this probationary period, the student will be expelled from the program.

Jury III (see below) will serve as the recital-permission jury, for which the student will prepare at least half (30 minutes) of the intended degree recital program. On the basis of this jury, permission to present the recital in the following semester will be granted. If the jury is deemed insufficient for approval by the faculty, the course must be repeated on a probationary basis, not to exceed one semester. If the student does not attain the minimum jury grade after this probationary period, the student will be denied permission to give the required degree recital and will be expelled from the program.

Jury I (concurrent with PIA 411 PIANO (MAJOR)) – 20 minutes
Repertoire will span three stylistic periods. Please see special note above.

Jury II (concurrent with PIA 412 PIANO (MAJOR)) – 20 minutes

This degree map charts a suggested pathway through all of your required courses. It is incumbent upon all students to fully comprehend curricular requirements and course schedules, and while it is feasible to chart an alternate pathway, it is highly recommended that you do so in close consultation with your academic advisor so as to determine a degree path appropriately tailored to your needs.

A full-time graduate course load comprises 9-13 credits per semester.
