

HEALTH SCIENCE ADMINISTRATION, BA

The bachelor's degree in Health Science Administration (HSAD) provides students with the knowledge, attitudes, and skills necessary for a successful career in the administration and organization of health care and medical laboratory settings. This major will meet the career-readiness needs of traditional students and enhance career opportunities for working professionals engaged in healthcare service delivery or laboratory science fields. The HSAD curriculum draws from the disciplines of public health, public administration, organizational leadership, and data analytics for an interdisciplinary understanding of modern healthcare.

Graduates will be prepared to:

- Demonstrate an understanding of healthcare systems, including their organization, structure, performance and terminology
- Synthesize knowledge of economic, socio-cultural, legal, population health and policy issues to address today's complex healthcare issues
- Identify the strategic, tactical and operational issues that drive the healthcare industry as a whole as well as the inter-relationships between its various segments
- Apply organizational and management theories and principles in a variety of health care and medical laboratory settings
- Apply skills of information management, quality improvement and performance measurement effectively in a variety of health care settings
- Demonstrate an awareness and both critical and entrepreneurial thinking skills to address health disparities

The BA in Health Science Administration provides students with 24 semester hours of core content and nine semester hours of electives to allow students to pursue their own interests in administration, lab science management or technology. Students will also complete an internship or capstone course designed to focus on their career interests. Students will also be well prepared for graduate study in public health, healthcare administration or health policy.

HSAD majors are encouraged to pursue a minor in related and complementary fields, such as psychology, data analytics, biology, chemistry, Hispanic studies, African American studies, women and gender studies, organizational leadership, general business for non-business majors, or human resource management.

Requirements

Requirements for the BA degree include 39 credit hours of acceptable credits in the major. This includes 27 credit hours of core courses, 9 credit hours of elective courses, and 3 hours of either the HSAD capstone or HSAD internship course. Students may take elective courses with an emphasis in Administration, Health Science, or Technology.

- Students must complete the final 30 credit hours of their degree at Roosevelt University.

Your degree map is a general guide suggesting courses to complete each term on the academic pathway to your degree. It is based on the most current scheduling information from your academic program. Your program's degree map is reviewed annually and updated as schedules change (although you retain the same course requirements as long as you are continuously enrolled in your degree program).

Always work closely with your academic advisor to understand curriculum requirements and scheduling, as each student's academic plan can look slightly different.
