

HISTORY BA/MA ACCELERATED PROGRAM

The History program at Roosevelt offers an accelerated BA in History/MA in History degree program to eligible students. Students entering this program can earn both bachelor's and master's degrees in less time than earning these degrees separately would require. The accelerated BA/MA program in History serves students who seek to teach history in a secondary school or community college; to prepare for a PhD degree; or to prepare for government positions or other careers requiring advanced study of history. The program offers instruction in the following fields: United States history to 1877, United States history since 1877, early modern European history, modern European history, African American history, the history of medicine, and Atlantic World history.

Entrance into this program is open to Roosevelt University BA students majoring in history who have an overall GPA of 3.0. Interested students must apply to the accelerated program by the end of the semester prior to entering their senior year of undergraduate study.

As undergraduates, eligible students may earn 9 credit hours (taking three graduate-level courses), which are applied toward both the undergraduate degree and the graduate degree. Graduate-level courses will be selected in consultation with the student's history faculty advisor.

The student may take either two graduate-level courses (6 credits) in the fall and one (3 credits) in the spring, or one (3 credits) in the fall and two (6 credits) in the spring semester. Once students are admitted to the MA, the courses will apply toward completion of the MA degree.
